

Mark Aldridge, K mart 4450, Raleigh, North Carolina.

Sporting employee wins ski package

K mart 4450, Raleigh, NC — When Mark Aldridge, sporting goods, entered a contest at a local radio station, he didn't really think too much about winning.

He sent in five post cards with his name, address, and phone number. One morning, the drawing was held while Mark was at work. His manager and some fellow employees heard the drawing on the radio and told Mark. After calling the radio station, it was confirmed that Mark had won, out of 7,000 entries.

The prize was for a ski weekend at Beech Mountain, North Carolina. Also included were Fischer skis, Caber boots, bindings, ski bibs, ski jackets, poles, accommodations at the Top of the Beech Inn for two nights, lift tickets for the weekend and money for expenses.

Mark won everything for two and decided to take his younger sister who is a freshman in college.

Volunteer homework

K mart 3150, Winston-Salem, NC — Stella Westmoreland, pharmacy, health and beauty aids, takes her work home with her and applies it to volunteer work.

Robert, Stella's husband, has chemotherapy treatments at the Veteran's Hospital in Salisbury. While accompanying her husband on these trips, Stella works as a volunteer at the hospital. Her experience in the pharmacy, health and beauty aids department at 3150 helps her as a volunteer because sometimes she works in the hospital pharmacy.

Officer Osterrieder from the Cranberry Police Department searches a sixth grader who was touring K mart 7417, Mars, Pennsylvania.

Sixth graders study security system

K mart 7417, Mars, PA — Joyce Cushing reports that a class of 56 sixth graders from Evans City Elementary School toured 7417 recently. The main purpose of the tour was to show these young adults how security and law enforcement work together against shoplifting.

Pat Christian and Dale Wilcher, security personnel, split the group in half and took them to see the security windows where you can watch over the sales floor.

They explained that with these one-way windows, 98 percent of the shoplifters are spotted. The groups then went to the security office where the suspects are held until the police arrive.

Each group in turn, watched while one of their classmates was written up. Officer Osterrieder from the Cranberry Police Department proceeded to tell them what happens when he arrives. He frisked and handcuffed each boy and explained what happens when you are fingerprinted and booked.

Employee studies law, models spring fashions

K mart 7395, Washington, IL — Employee Angie Ahten is currently a sophomore at Illinois Central College where she is a member of Phi Theta Kappa honor society. She is planning on furthering her education in law at Texas Christian University in Fort Worth, Texas.

Angie has done modeling for Peoria, Illinois area department stores. A recent spring fashion show theme was old and new swimwear and Angie wore a roaring twenties swimsuit.

Big sister volunteer and Girl Scout leader

K mart 4218, Appleton, WI — Doing something of one's own free will, without receiving remuneration, caring for another human being or looking out for someone else's welfare are all rewarding experiences.

Mary Fink, footwear manager, has been a big sister volunteer for two years to a 9-year-old girl. She takes her little sister to movies, swimming and shopping. Mary is also a member of Women in Management, a national organization.

Georgia Waters, domestic department, has been a Girl Scout Leader for four years and also visits nursing homes. The Community Blood Center has Georgia on stand-by call for blood donations because only three out of seven people have her type of blood.

Class valedictorian receives scholarship

K mart 7288, Louisville, KY — Bob Johanemann, part timer, won a scholarship for four years to Kentucky Wesleyan College in Owensboro, Kentucky.

Bob started out in stock, but moved onto hardware, appliances and building supplies.

The 17-year-old student at Fairdale High School will be graduating with a 3.9 grade point average and will serve as Valedictorian of his class.

Bob received his scholarship based on his outstanding grades and an essay he had written. He enjoys cooking, studying, and backpacking in his spare time.

Bob's father, Bill Johanemann is the letter carrier for 7288.

Recently K mart 3523, Paramus, New Jersey had the privilege of being chosen for a future Woody Allen Production. The rear of the store was the backdrop for a ticker-tape parade. Antique cars were used for the parade. Actors and actresses dressed in fashions from the 1920's and were all part of the upcoming movie. Mia Farrow, at right in the photo, will star with Woody Allen, left with head bowed. Store Manager, Lawrence Scheid and his wife, had the pleasure of being introduced to Woody Allen and Mia Farrow.